

DC investment strategies ahead of 2012 auto-enrolment

---

"It's clear that current members of DC pension schemes are not aware of the importance of making good investment choices, given the estimated 90% of members that end up in the default fund. This is not to say DC schemes are bad, but considering the majority of the population are in DC, this one-size fits all approach is not the solution. This problem will only get worse when new members enters the system following auto-enrolment."

Sam Waterhouse ..... Shilling Communication

