

Highest award for Shilling

A LISS-based company has achieved the highest possible grading in a national award scheme which recognises businesses who make the most of their employees.

Shilling Communication has been awarded 'champion status' in the Investors in People scheme.

The accolade follows the company's achievement of 'gold status' in June and comes just a few weeks after four Shilling employees completed a charity trek across part of the Sahara Desert. The company encourages staff to take part in ambitious charity events.

Founder and managing director Kevin Shilling said: "We are very proud of this achievement."
